Many VET teachers have difficulty ensuring that their qualifications are relevant and current to meet the human resource requirements of the Training Packages they deliver and assess. As a result of this need VETnetwork Australia has endorsed a model for Professional Development that will enable teachers to obtain vocational qualifications in their specific industry.

Speakers at the event will include:

1. Bob Lamb - Manager, Skills First, Training Quality & Regulation, Department of Education and Training (DET)

- The RPL Process
- Evidence that can be provided towards the knowledge, skills and experience requirements of a qualification or unit/s of competency

2. Sandra Harrington - VET Consultant

- Professional Development objectives
- The proposed process in relation to Hospitality, Business, Automotive, Furnishing and Engineering
- Identification of further professional development needs

3. Meeting with representatives from the RTOs including:

La-Vere College – Hospitality Certificate I and II

John Paul College – Business Certificate I, II and III

Australian Technical College North Brisbane - Auto, Furnishing, Engineering Certificates I and II
